A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT PAINO

Dear Mary Washington graduates,

Congratulations! This is a great day of celebration – for you, for your family and friends, and for the entire Mary Washington community. I commend you for the hard work and dedication that have led to this important occasion, your commencement. If ever a graduating class deserved this moment of joy and happiness, it is this one!

Mary Washington is committed to excellence in all that we do, and you demonstrated that in how you responded to the COVID-19 public health crisis. You demonstrated that Mary Washington is not only a place of academic rigor, it also is a place where people truly matter as individuals and where people genuinely care about one another. It is that sense of community that sets us apart and that will live within you for years to come.

This class will always occupy a special place in Mary Washington's history, particularly because of how you responded to this crisis. In turn, Mary Washington will always be a part of your story. What you achieved here, the relationships you have forged with faculty, staff, and fellow students, will forever be woven into the fabric of Mary Washington. And the values of honor, integrity, and citizenship that you have practiced here will serve as a foundation for the remainder of your life. You are well prepared for all life's challenges and opportunities.

I extend my personal best wishes to you for success in all of your future endeavors. I encourage you always to remain close to your Mary Washington family and to return here often.

Sincerely,

Troy D. Paino, J.D., Ph.D.
President

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER SHEILA L. SHADMAND

The University of Mary Washington 2022 Commencement speaker is Sheila Shadmand, a 1995 graduate of Mary Washington who received her J.D. in 1998 from the University of Virginia School of Law.

One of the first female partners of a U.S. law firm in the Middle East, Shadmand has lived for 15 years in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, and been a trailblazer for Jones Day, one of the world's largest law firms. Fluent in French and Farsi, she is in charge of the Saudi Arabia and Dubai offices and the Middle East/Africa region, as well as head of Jones Day's global disputes and international investigations practices in the Middle East. Presented with Mary Washington's Outstanding Young Alumni Award in 2010, Shadmand is among Global Investigations Review's "Women in Investigations" for 2021. The list highlights 100 remarkable female lawyers, corporate counsel, barristers, and government enforcers working in the investigations field.

Having conducted investigations in more than 30 countries throughout the Middle East, Africa, and South Asia, Shadmand is regarded as a leading anticorruption lawyer and the go-to counsel for clients conducting investigations in the Middle East and Africa. In the last decade alone, she has led more than 95 investigations and conducted nearly 1,000 witness interviews, using her ability to bridge cultural and linguistic divides to get to the facts and assist global companies in taking appropriate remedial action.

During her nearly quarter century of practicing law, Shadmand has represented several of Jones Day's largest clients in complex commercial litigation and arbitration, as well as in investigative matters before the Department of Justice and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

She has appeared on CNN, MSNBC, Bloomberg, and a number of other news broadcasts and print media. She has served as a member of an advisory board of the Dubai Judicial Institute.

The Legal 500, which has perennially recognized Shadmand as a leading lawyer says of her: "Knows how to navigate the law – and people – to get results."

FACULTY EMERITI

Faculty members who have served the University of Mary Washington for at least 15 years and who have attained the rank of professor or associate professor are eligible to be considered for emeritus status. This honor, by action of the Board of Visitors, is bestowed this year upon the following distinguished member of the faculty.

Elizabeth Freund Larus, Professor Emerita of Political Science and International Affairs

Professor of Political Science Elizabeth F. Larus is an expert on the politics of China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong. Recipient of UMW's Waple Faculty Professional Achievement Award in 2019 and a prestigious Fulbright Scholarship grant, Larus spent the first part of 2020 in Poland researching the impact that China's Belt and Road Initiative, also known as the new Silk Road, has had on Eastern and Central Europe.

Larus, who taught at Mary Washington for a quarter century and was the first woman to join the department, received a Ph.D. (1994) in government with a certificate in Asian studies from the University of Virginia. She earned an M.A. (1989) in public administration, also from the University of Virginia, and a B.A. (1983) in journalism from Creighton University.

Fluent in Mandarin Chinese, Larus spent three years living and conducting field research in Asia. Her department chair, Professor Rosalyn Cooperman, described her as having "an abiding enthusiasm for all things Asian."

Larus served as press secretary for former U.S. Congressman Hal Daub. She also wrote these books: Economic Reform in China, 1979-2003: The Marketization of Labor and State Enterprises (2005) and Politics and Society in Contemporary China (2012).

Her articles have been published in a number of professional journals, she has written chapters in several books about China, and she has presented the papers "Taiwan after the Global Financial Crisis: Where Do We Go from Here?" and "Taiwan's Reaction to Global Financial Crisis."

Larus is a member of the American Political Science Association, the Association for Asian Studies, the American Association for Chinese Studies, and the Conference Group on Taiwan Studies. Larus has served on the editorial board of Issues & Studies and as president of the Virginia Consortium for Asian Studies.

ADMINISTRATOR EMERITI

The president may recommend that emeritus status be awarded to retiring administrators and professional faculty who have provided extensive and meritorious service to the University of Mary Washington. This honor, by action of the Board of Visitors, is bestowed this year upon the following distinguished members of the administration.

Anna Billingsley, Associate Vice President for University Relations Emerita

Anna Billingsley came to UMW in 2004 after a career in journalism and has served a number of roles at Mary Washington. Through 18 years at UMW, Associate Vice President for University Relations Billingsley has overseen every aspect of University Relations, including media and public relations, marketing, digital media, advertising, crisis communications, design, and publications. Over the years she has been involved in brand rollouts, website reworkings, publications large and small, a few crises, and countless press releases and stories. In doing so, and in her role as spokesperson, she has become the face and voice of the University to tens of thousands of students and the Fredericksburg community. They have looked to her to share the latest news, to reassure them through tough times, and to present the University's message and mission. She earned her B.A. at the College of William and Mary and her M.A. at American University.

ADMINISTRATOR EMERITI

Cedric B. Rucker, Associate Vice President and Dean of Student Life Emeritus

In his more than four decades at Mary Washington – as student, counselor, confidante, and font of institutional knowledge – Dean of Student Life Cedric Rucker has left an indelible mark. “My journey has been colorfully lit by engagements, phenomenal people, and transformative events that continue to inspire my role as UMW’s Dean of Student Life,” Rucker recently said.

His Mary Washington journey started in 1977 when he became the first Black male student to live on campus all four years before graduation. A Richmond native, Rucker earned a master’s degree from the University of Virginia and served briefly as U.Va.’s assistant dean of admissions before returning to Mary Washington as an administrator and a larger-than-life campus presence.

A sociology major, he has taught the subject at UMW for decades. From his artifact-filled office at Marye House, Rucker has organized orientation, chaired countless committees, and consoled students and their parents – all in indefatigable style. Wearing his signature bow ties, popped collars and draped-over-the-shoulders sweaters, Rucker is known for handing out Halloween candy as Winnie the Pooh and lovingly aligning commencement regalia for soon-to-be grads.

In a faculty tribute, Sociology and Anthropology Department Chair Kristin Marsh talked about the “outsized role” Rucker plays at UMW. “He is on call 24/7 for our students and families,” she said, and he has been a “lead cheerleader” for the entire University.

In 2019, Gov. Ralph Northam appointed Rucker to the Commonwealth Transportation Board. Previously, he served on the state Board of Medicine and was named a “living legend” by Richmond Public Schools. He also has had a significant impact on the Fredericksburg community, serving on boards of museums, schools, and other nonprofits.

A world traveler known for his infectious cackle and for his prolific picture-taking, Rucker will have the University Center named in his honor upon his retirement.

ACADEMIC CUSTOMS AND DRESS

The origins of many customs of the academic world can be traced to the Middle Ages, particularly the 11th and 12th centuries, when the first European universities – Bologna, Paris, and Oxford – were founded.

In their original organization, the universities were like medieval corporations or guilds. In fact, the word “universitas” originally referred to any kind of corporation. The students at the universities were equated to guild apprentices, so the completion of the apprenticeship was celebrated by a “commencement” marking the beginning of their careers.

In the 12th century, everyone wore gowns. The social and economic status of an individual was shown by the extra features, such as fur trimming, on the gowns. Cloaks with hoods were worn over gowns for protection in bad weather. Degrees began to be awarded in the 13th century, and different styles of gowns and different colors came to represent the various degrees and disciplines.

Over the centuries the styles of dress changed, and by the 17th century the wearing of gowns by men had virtually ceased. But the universities, particularly those in Britain, continued to be conservative and strict in the manner of academic customs and dress. At Oxford, for instance, a candidate for a master’s degree had to swear that he owned a gown and would always wear it at the proper times.

The first American universities were founded on English models. However, the wearing of academic dress was not universal and ceased during the Civil War. The custom was revived in the late 19th century, and in 1895 an academic custom code was adopted that, with modifications, is still used.

Most American universities have the standard black gown with the hood serving to distinguish the individual institution. Some American and European universities have adopted or preserved more distinctive gowns. There are three styles of gowns, distinguished mainly by the sleeves: the bachelor’s gown, with long pointed sleeves; the master’s, with a squared sleeve, cut so the forearm is free; and the doctoral gown, with bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands.

The hood is the most distinguishing feature of modern gowns, indicating the degree (the width of the edging band), the discipline (the color of the band), and the college or university (the colors of the lining). Today’s master’s degree graduates have hoods edged in gold (M.S.), drab (MBA), or light blue (M.Ed.). Bachelor’s degree graduates have hoods edged in white (B.A. and B.S.), gold (B.S. and B.S.Ed.), or apricot (BSN). Many faculty members will have hoods with blue edging indicating the doctoral degree. The faculty will wear hoods representing many distinguished institutions of higher education.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

In addition to a book and lamp, signifying knowledge, the University seal denotes the year the institution was founded, 1908, and the University motto, Pro Deo Domo Patria, translated from Latin to “For God, home, and country.”

THE ACADEMIC MACE

The tradition of the academic mace began in the late 14th century, when two ancient instruments, the royal scepter and the battle mace, were combined to form a symbol of the authority of the president or rector of a university. Noblemen carried the battle mace as both a weapon and staff of command, and the sovereign used the regal scepter as a sign of rulership, justice, and authority.

Together with the chain of office, the academic mace indicates that the president of the university is the temporary embodiment of the power, authority, autonomy, and sovereignty vested in the institution represented.

At the University of Mary Washington, the grand marshal carries the academic mace on behalf of the president at academic events such as commencement exercises, inaugurations, and convocations.

The original University of Mary Washington mace, first used for the May 1970 Commencement, was designed by Asprey and Company of London, England. The sterling mace carried in today's commencement ceremony was commissioned as a special project of the University Centennial Celebration in 2008. It was designed by Susannah Wagner Merritt of Ashland, Virginia. The mace encompasses numerous symbols of the University, including lapis stones to display the school color; blossoms of dogwood to honor the Virginia state tree; acorns and oak leaves to recall the historic tree at Brompton, home of the UMW president; and a herringbone motif representing Campus Walk. The six prongs are engraved with the six names of the school prior to its becoming a university in 2004; the prongs are adorned with a lapis disc engraved with the University seal. The handle is emblematic of the original Mary Washington mace.

ALMA MATER

By Irene Taylor '47 and Jean Crotty '47

All hail, dear Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to you.
High on Marye's Hilltop
You stand forever true;
Born in truth and honor
You ever more shall be,
The model of our future years
And all eternity.

Whene'er we have to leave you
We never will forget,
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met;
And we your sons and daughters
Will hold your name on high,
So here's to Mary Washington;
Our love will never die.
