

big interview

A resource for faculty and students in career preparation

Big Interview is an online interviewing resource, to include an opportunity for students to practice, record, and review interview responses by logging in with their UMW credentials.

Big Interview gives students the opportunity to practice interview skills and learn strategies to find internships, jobs, or graduate schools.

Interviews can be completed by industry or competency and additional questions can be added by course instructors for customization.

Interviews can be labeled as assignments for any course. Students can be assessed on the completion of an interview, interview skills that meet a rubric outlining specific skillsets, or self-reflections on recorded interview skills.

Big Interview allows students the opportunity to practice mock interviews and both faculty and students can review their skills.

Interview questions are posed by the “interviewer” and students are able to self-record their responses. Students are able to either re-record or save interview responses before submitting their entire interview.
